

Merry Christmas

Welcome to the

Welsh Dobermann Club

Christmas* News Letter 2009

SECRETARY'S REPORT

Well we are now into December and as usual I'm not ready for Christmas with lots of cards still to write. November 2009 has been the wettest November since the 1920's and I am sure you all have the same problem as me – its bedtime you call the dogs to go out and they take one look outside and refuse to budge – I can't say I blame them!

As it's the Club's 40th Anniversary next year to celebrate we have purchased a Dog World diary (see enclosed) for all our members. Some members received theirs at the last few shows and they were well received.

We have invited two American judges for our 40th Anniversary Championship Show on the 18th April, 2010. The dog judge has been approved by the KC and is Mrs. Linda Kruker (Dabney) but the bitch judge is yet to be approved (hopefully this month). We have quite a few ideas to make this show a memorable occasion but if any members have any suggestions please don't hesitate to let us know.

The Club's Open Show took place on 4th October, 2009, at Cwmbran Stadium and the critique from the judge, Mrs. Eileen Matthews (Heathwaen), is included in the Newsletter. The show went well and a good entry was received.

The Club's 2010 Calendar of Champions is now available and if you wish to purchase one please send a cheque for £7 (includes £2 p&p), payable to Welsh Dobermann Club to myself at 109 St. Anne's Gardens, Maesycemmer, Hengoed. CF82 7QS. The list of judges and championship show dates is also available from myself at a cost of £1 send a sae and cheque – all proceeds go to Dobermann Welfare.

The first Dobermann with a tail to become a champion is Ch. Chamcepixies Nimrod which was closely followed by another male Ch. Jojavikc Mafioso. To date although female Dobermanns have won RCCs one hasn't won a CC yet.

Although I put the following paragraph in the last newsletter I still haven't heard from any members:-

I should be grateful if members could let me have their e-mail addresses and as we are all trying to save money and the environment if members could let me know if they would be happy to receive schedules for the Club's shows by e-mail (or downloaded from the Club's web site) and also e-mail copies or download copies of the Newsletter. E-mail addresses are also required in order that I can let you know if there is any new information on the club's website (www.welshdobermann.co.uk).

The Club will be continuing with its awards for Best Dobermann (Ch. Shows); Best Dobermann (Open Shows) and Best Puppy (Ch. Shows and Open Shows). The forms are not required until the beginning of January 2010 but if you wish to download the forms and start filling in the details as you collect your wins please go to the Club's web site to download them. Alternatively if anyone wishes to receive a paper copy please contact me.

In this Newsletter we have included a page congratulating Members on their wins – if we have missed any please let me know and I will endeavour to include them in the next issue. A page on the Club's web site will also include this information so let us know of your wins.

Condolences go to all members who have lost their beloved Dobermann in the last year, I'm sure memories of them will be with you for many years to come.

Some sad news – Margaret Woodward-Sheridan (Achenburg) has passed away. The club sent a donation to Mcmillon Nurses and DCM Fund in lieu of flowers. Margaret once told me that she was a member of the Welsh Dobermann Club from around the time it was first formed and loved coming to Wales for the championship shows. When I receive an obituary I will include it in the Newsletter.

Details of the AGM will be held on 28th March, 2010, see details in Newsletter. May I remind members that subscriptions are due on 1st January, 2010 and should be sent to Mrs. Avril Stewart, Membership Secretary.

I wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year .

DCM DNA Marker

We as breeders and owners of Dobermans we all should test our dogs once this test is available. Hopefully the test will be reasonably priced. If the test show some dogs that are clear and if the test shows it is like the vWD test, then in time we can breed away from it.

The American Quarter Horse Assn. had hyperkalemia problems in some of the horses, also in Paints and Appys. Hyperkalemia causes sudden death and/or it can temporarily paralysis the horse. Autopsies show nothing wrong. It can affect old and young horses. The problem was getting wide spread. Finally the AQHA requires every horse to have the DNA test and if they are affect. They don't get registered. Even if the horse only has only one gene for hyperkalemia, it can still kill them. Double gene is a nightmare.

The problem with hyperkalemia in horses it came from a World Champion Aged Halter Stallion and a leading sire, Impressive. While it was thought the Impressive himself never had hyperkalemia and I did see him personally in his later years. I also saw his full sister as an older mare. Both his full sister and full brother didn't seem to have the gene either and as far as I know his siblings never produced it. Impressive was line bred on a Thoroughbred horse called Three Bars. I even called AQHA and Alan Faulkner, Impressive's owner and asked what was going on with these horses and of course back then they were in denial.

Impressive's get were hard to beat and Impressive sired many World Champions and his sons went on to be leading sires as well. You can spot an Impressive bred horse a mile away. Some were just breath taking. But, how do you sell these animals that are positive to other people? I know some people would just put them down.

I personally had a barn full of Impressive horses as well as grand and great grand kids. I was so proud of my barn. I worked so very hard to have a barn like this. But when I had to put all the horses under cameras with sound running 24 hours a day. Afraid to leave the house, just in case one needed help. If I hear something wrong I would run out and try and treat them before they did die. Many times I held my beautiful 6 week old foal's head in my lap while she laid paralyzed on the barn floor and me sobbing and asking why this is happening to her. Telling her I was so sorry this was happening to her. Watch my favorite mare lay paralyzed on the barn floor while her soon to be born foal kicks inside of her or phone calls from people who's horse was fine one minute and dead the next. Folks, IT WAS AWFUL. It was so awful for me I donated my filly to the university and the last time I talked to Dr. Spiers at UC Davis she is still there. She is why they have the DNA test. In my heart, I already knew it was coming from Impressive. Even before the test was available I cleared my barn and went out to Dean Landers in IA. and bought me some mares with no Impressive behind them and in foal to another leading sire, Sonny Dee Bar, who was not an Impressive bred horse. Never had a problem with them. But even with the DNA test seeing people breeding into just to win was enough for me. So, after 32 yrs in Quarter horses. I sold all my mares and my Sonny Dee Bar stallion and walked away.

The problem in Dobes could be the same kind of problem with Impressive. Too many people want to over breed to a few top males. Stud dog owners IMO need to be more selective and limit their breedings. We don't need stud dogs producing 100s of Champions. Dog's bred too young and too often. Continue to breed dogs with frozen semen that died young or suddenly. Why? Why not wait until there is a test? Why do folks want to buy these puppies?

I have been in Dobermans 30 years and I guess if I had a choice of having Dobermans dying cardio or not having Dobermans I would walk away from Dobermans just as I did in Quarter horses. To put a face to my Impressive story, I have uploaded a picture of my mare that is at UC Davis. This was sent to me from Dr. Spiers with a Thank You note. My mare was used as their poster horse. It is only a head shot, but her quality shows through.

Sacrificing her was the hardest thing I have ever done in my life. But I did it in hopes she could help the breed and she did. I don't look at too many Quarter Horse magazines anymore, but when I see horses advertised they are HYPP/N/N in their ads, it does make me feel better about giving her up. I still miss her to this day. This picture is one of my most valued and loved treasures. I wanted to go see her over the years, but I told Dr. Spiers, if I see her, I would want to bring her home again.

IMO, there isn't any difference if it is Quarter horses or Dobermans. If there is a way to remove this cardio for this breed, we all need to take these steps to help the breed we all love. Even if it is at a great sacrifice.

Roping A Deer (Names have been removed to protect the stupid!) Actual letter from someone who farms and writes well!

I had this idea that I was going to rope a deer, put it in a stall, feed it up on corn for a couple of weeks, then kill it and eat it. The first step in this adventure was getting a deer. I figured that, since they congregate at my cattle feeder and do not seem to have much fear of me when we are there (a bold one will sometimes come right up and sniff at the bags of feed while I am in the back of the truck not 4 feet away), it should not be difficult to rope one, get up to it and toss a bag g over its head (to calm it down) then hog tie it and transport it home. I filled the cattle feeder then hid down at the end with my rope.

The cattle, having seen the roping thing before, stayed well back. They were not having any of it. After about 20 minutes, my deer showed up -- 3 of them. I picked out..a likely looking one, stepped out from the end of the feeder, and threw my rope. The deer just stood there and stared at me

I wrapped the rope around my waist and twisted the end so I would have a good hold. The deer still just stood and stared at me, but you could tell it was mildly concerned about the whole rope situation. I took a step towards it...took a step away. I put a little tension on the rope and then received an education.

The first thing that I learned is that, while a deer may just stand there looking at you funny while you rope it, they are spurred to action when you start pulling on that rope.

That deer EXPLODED.

The second thing I learned is that pound for pound, a deer is a LOT stronger than a cow or a colt. A cow or a colt in that weight range I could fight down with a rope and with some dignity.

A deer-- NO CHANCE.

That thing ran and bucked and twisted and pulled. There was no controlling it and certainly no getting close to it. As it jerked me off my feet and started dragging me across the ground, it occurred to me that having a deer on a rope was not nearly as good an idea as I had originally imagined.

The only upside is that they do not have as much stamina as many other animals.

A brief 10 minutes later, it was tired and not nearly as quick to jerk me off my feet and drag me when I managed to get up. It took me a few minutes to realize this, since I was mostly blinded by the blood flowing out of the big gash in my head. At that point, I had lost my taste for corn-fed venison. I just wanted to get that devil creature off the end of that rope.

I figured if I just let it go with the rope hanging around its neck, it would likely die slow and painfully somewhere. At the time, there was no love at all between me and that deer. At that moment, I hated the thing, and I would venture a guess that the feeling was mutual.

Despite the gash in my head and the several large knots where I had cleverly arrested the deer's momentum by bracing my head against various large rocks as it dragged me across the ground, I could still think clearly enough to recognize that there was a small chance that I shared some tiny amount of responsibility for the situation we were in, so I didn't want the deer to have to suffer a slow death, so I managed to get it lined back up in between my truck and the feeder - a little trap I had set before hand...kind of like a squeeze chute.

I got it to back in there and I started moving up so I could get my rope back.

Did you know that deer bite? They do! I never in n a million years would have thought that a deer would bite somebody, so I was very surprised when I reached up there to grab that rope and the deer grabbed hold of my wrist.

Now, when a deer bites you, it is not like being bit by a horse where they just bite you and then let go. A deer bites you and shakes its head --almost like a pit bull. They bite HARD and it hurts.

The proper thing to do when a deer bites you is probably to freeze and draw back slowly. I tried screaming and shaking instead. My method was ineffective. It seems like the deer was biting and shaking for several minutes, but it was likely only several seconds. I, being smarter than a deer (though you may be questioning that claim by now), tricked it. While I kept it busy tearing the tendons out of my right arm, I reached up with my left hand and pulled that rope loose. That was when I got my final lesson in deer behavior for the day.

Deer will strike at you with their front feet. They rear right up on their back feet and strike right about head and shoulder level, and their hooves are surprisingly sharp. I learned a long time ago that, when an animal - like a horse --strikes at you with their hooves and you can't get away easily, the best thing to do is try to make a loud noise and make an aggressive move towards the animal. This will usually cause them to back down a bit so you can escape.

This was not a horse. This was a deer, so obviously, such trickery would not work. In the course of a millisecond, I devised a different strategy. I screamed like a woman and tried to turn and run.

The reason I had always been told NOT to try to turn and run from a horse that paws at you and that there is a good chance that it will hit you in the back of the head. Deer may not be so different from horses after all, besides being twice as strong and 3 times as evil, because the second I turned to run, it hit me right in the back of the head and knocked me down.

Now, when a deer paws at you and knocks you down, it does not immediately leave. I suspect it does not recognize that the danger has passed. What they do instead is paw your back and jump up and down on you while you are laying there crying like a little girl and covering your head.

I finally managed to crawl under the truck and the deer went away. So now I know why when people go deer hunting they bring a rifle with a scope to sort of even the odds.

I felt I wanted to write to you to pass on the sad news that our brown Dobermann, Zoe, who we bought from you as a puppy in September 1998, was put to sleep on Friday 20th November.

I'm not sure whether you'll remember us, but we used to come up to visit the litter of 10 puppies every Saturday with our two daughters (then aged 7 and 5) and video them up until the much-anticipated day when we were able to take Zoe home to Caerphilly with us.

We have had a wonderful time with Zoe. She turned out to be a really exceptional dog (of course we would say that, wouldn't we!!) and we have had lots of good times and adventures with her. With two young children to share her home with, she was always a gentle and well-behaved dog in the house - and a lively, friendly dog outside. My partner, Jason, always admired her hobbies, which she kept up until her last few days: tunneling into mole-hills, water play, barking at geese and chasing swifts from ground level! When she was five, we found an abandoned greyhound/lurcher who soon became one of the family - despite Zoe's initial disdain for him! It was a case of unrequited love on Basil's behalf and he looks utterly lost at the moment.

We have all been devastated at losing her, but she was suffering with arthritis/spondylosis and not very comfortable at all last week. Speaking for myself, I think it's going to be a long time before I get used to the absence of her big personality. I'm sure you know what I mean.

I'd like to thank you because if it wasn't for you, we would never have had such a fabulous dog as a much-loved member of our family.

Best wishes to you all at Swnydwr.

Yours sincerely
